Homecoming:

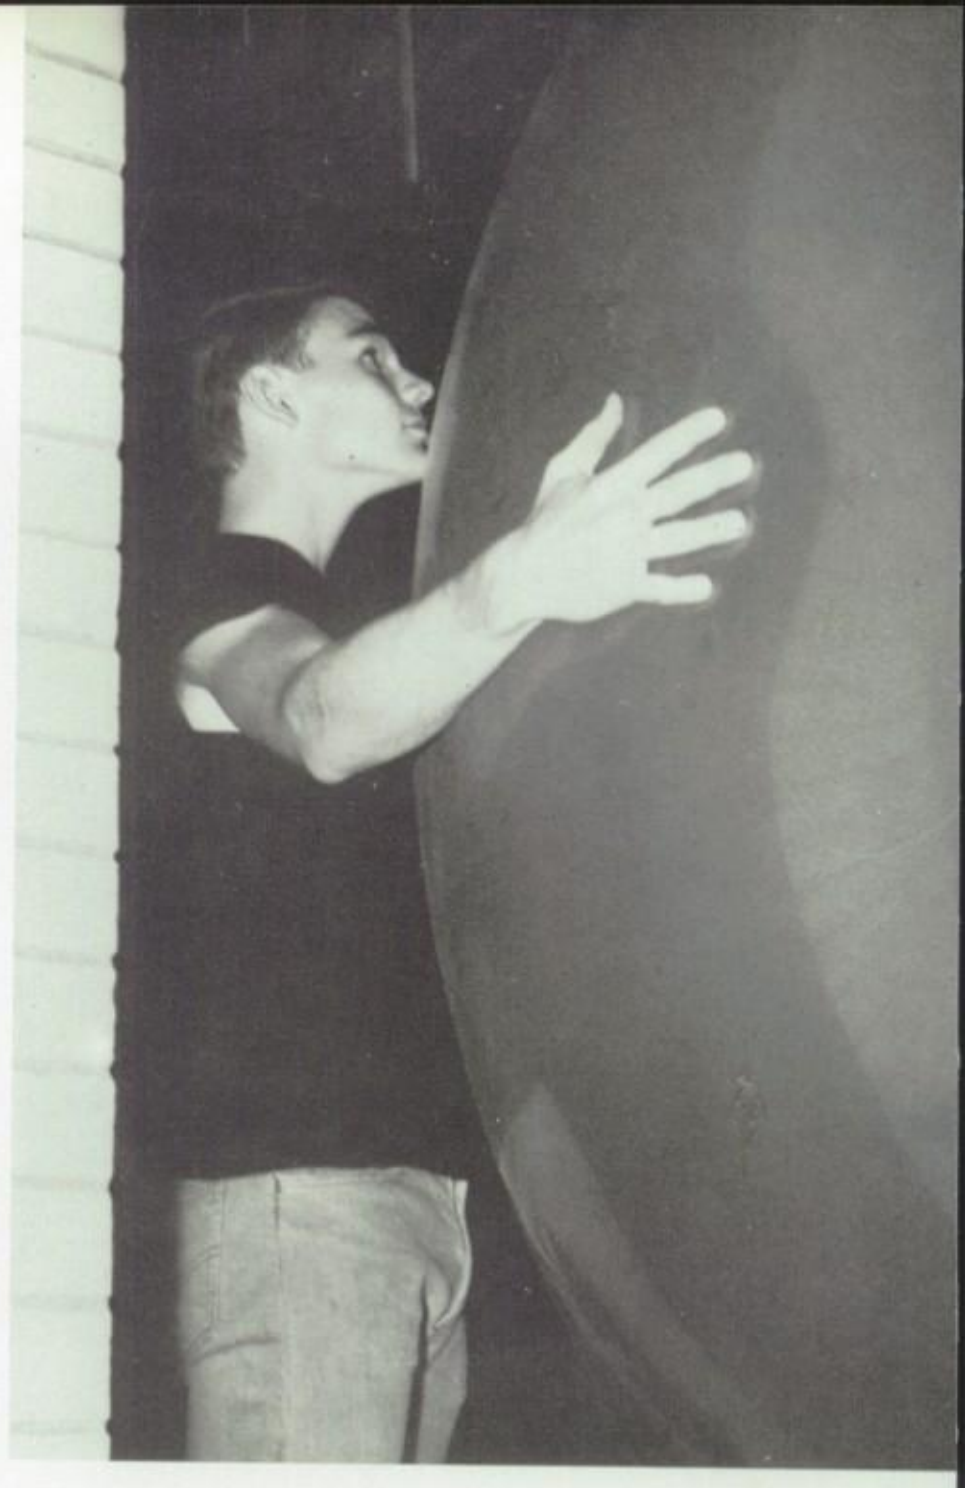
As always, the week leading up to Homecoming was hectic, but fun. October 21-26 saw students and faculty alike constructing clever floats. In keeping with the theme "Around the World," the floats related scenes from Spain, Alaska, and various other locations of international significance.

Thursday night found students gathering at the public square for the annual snake dance to the stadium. Once at their destination, the cheering crowd expressed its "views" in a colorful and spirited pep rally centered around a huge bonfire. The roar of the crackling fire was exceeded only by the bubbling excitement of the participants in the "Little Indy 500" bicycle race. The Junior class displayed its superiority to the other classes and organizations by winning the first place trophy.

Friday found the halls of HHS electrified with anticipation of the coming events. After a spirit-raising pep rally in the gym, the student body headed out toward the street to watch a color-splattered parade. Students kept their fingers crossed in hopes that their float would stay together and catch the eye of the judges as it passed. From the streets, the activities moved once again to the stadium where the Bulldogs met the Triad Knights in the traditional Homecoming football game. Although the "Dogs" fought furiously, they were unable to defeat the Knights and lost 7-19.

Down, but not discouraged, the students of HHS eagerly awaited the coronation ceremonies on Saturday night. Students danced to the music of the Minutemen.

By Monday, Homecoming week was just a happy memory in the halls of HHS.



Preparation for the Homecoming is a big job, as Kem Conrad soon found out.

Tensed muscles and determined faces depict Terry Brandt, Tom Wenzel, and Charles Price as riders in the Little Indy bicycle race.

A Week of Working Together

During the pep rally preceding the Homecoming football game, Debbie Bellm parades the school mascot in front of the student body.

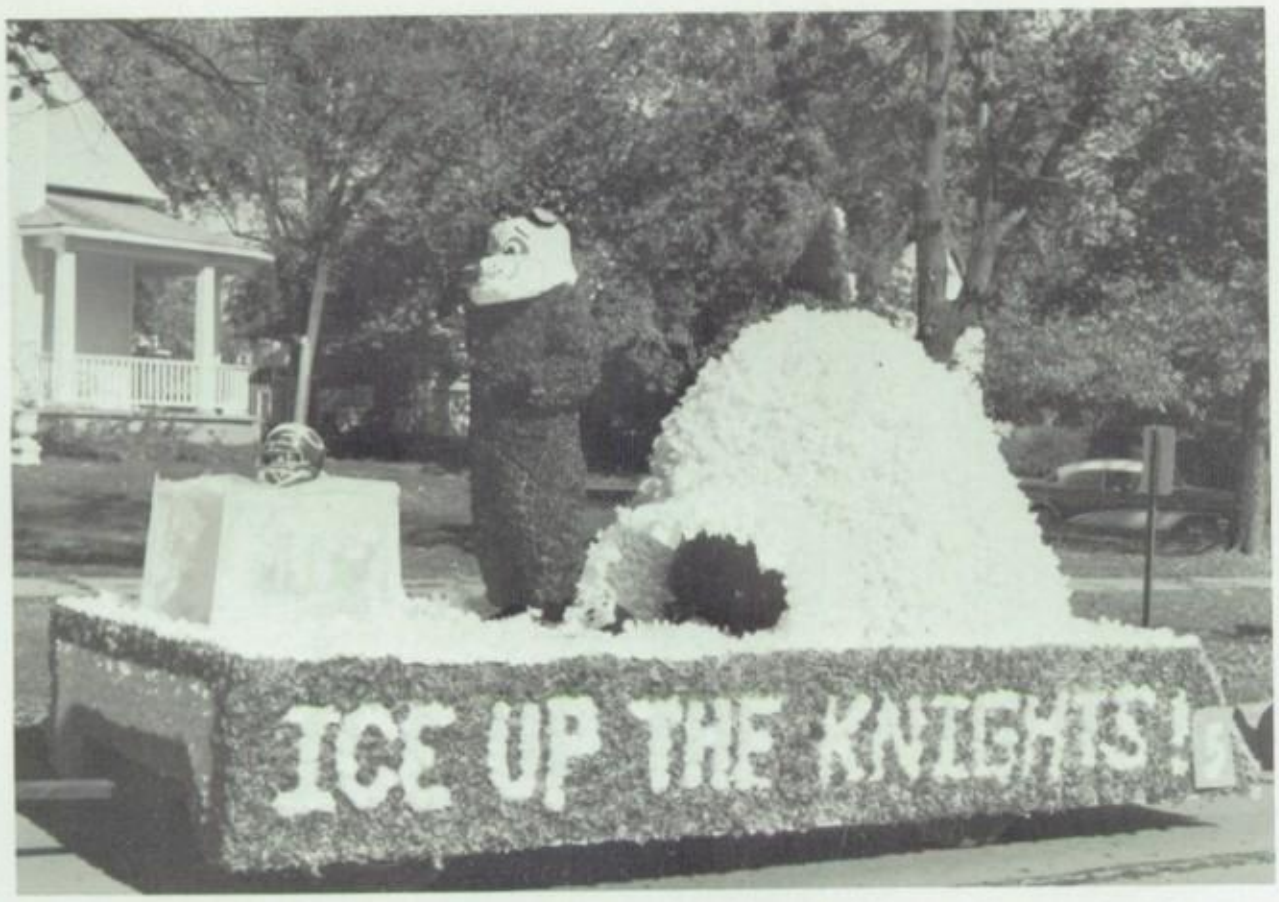
Intent on her task, Peg Duft places the final flowers on the Junior float.

Brad Iberg, Louis Schmidt, and Loren Sievers venture into their Freshman year and help to create a fine entry for the Homecoming parade.

By "Winding Up the Knights" the FHA-FFA wound up in first place.

Homecoming: Showing Our Spirit

From off the second place Spanish club float, Alan Purcell tips his hat to the Bulldogs.



The Seniors win a cool third place.

Bennie Newman checks to see if the Lettermen's float is still there.

Connie Lang flashes a big Holland smile.

Winding its way through the autumn-gold town, the Homecoming Parade revealed to the Highland citizens what all the recent activities at the high school had accomplished. Weeks of preparation, the fluffing of many flowers, and frantic last minute adjustments made our parade a colorful treat. As the marching band led the way, Fat Albert rode in his little cart and greeted the spectators in his first official homecoming celebration. Parade Marshall K. James Kerin supervised the parade with the help of Honorary Marshalls Representatives Vadalabene and Harpstrite. Original floats carried out the theme "Around the World" depicting many foreign countries such as Germany, Egypt, Africa, and Australia. But the FHA-FFA by "Winding Up a Victory" in the land of Holland won first place. The second place Spanish club float cheered "Ole Los Bulldogs," while an icy gust from the Arctic brought third place to the Seniors.

King Ted – Queen Jackie

As King Ted crowns Queen Jackie, HHS hails its new royalty.

Homecoming: Crowning a New King and Queen

"I'll never forget the night I was crowned queen of HHS," retiring King, Ernie Chappell, proudly stated. Laughter—light and mirthful—broke the tension of the preceding minutes, minutes filled with joy and anxiety for many who awaited the announcement of HHS's new royalty.

If our new King Ted Mettler and Queen Jackie Lang were in any way nervous, they hid their excitement well. Majestically King Ted and Queen Jackie reigned over the gay coronation dance.

Special Maid Kay Rogers—Special Escort Phil Coleman

An embarrassed slip of the tongue by retiring King Ernie Chappel brought a royal chuckle from retiring queen Marilyn Liebler Zeller.

Junior-Senior Play — A "Solid Gold" Success

This fall the juniors and seniors joined forces to present the second annual Jr.-Sr. play, "Solid Gold Cadillac," a two act comedy by Howard Teichmann and George S. Kaufman. The play concerns what happens to a big corporation when a small stockholder attends a stockholders' meeting and begins to ask questions.

Thanks to the combined efforts and hard work of the two classes and Director Mrs. Pamela Ott, the play proved to be a great success.

The speech classes and headliners helped provide an intermission as entertaining as the rest of the play.

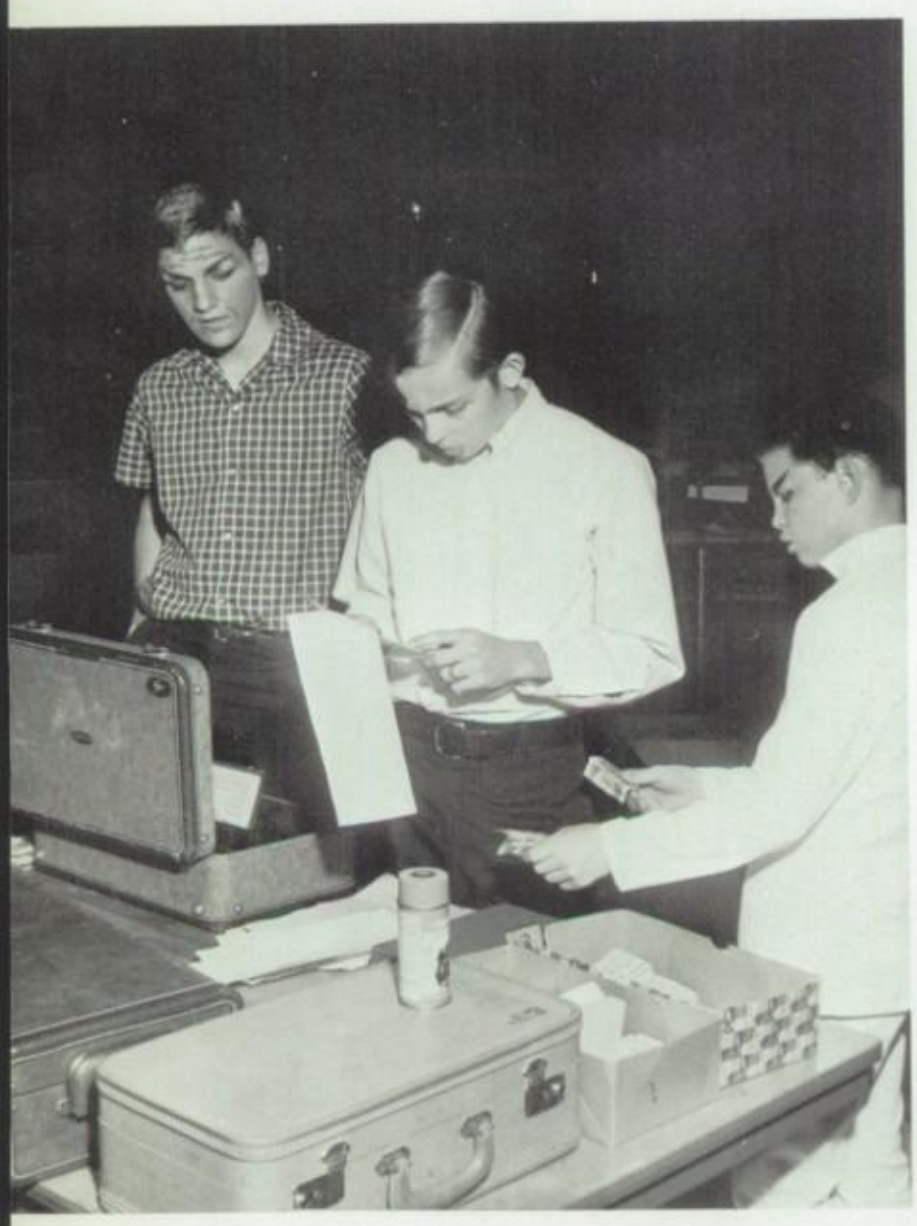
Thanks to the efficient work of the backstage crew, scene changes were made quickly and quietly.

Flower Drum Song:

Weeks of Preparation

Three excellent performances of Flower Drum Song resulted from many weeks of hard work. Because of the tremendous number of interested students, tryouts took a week longer than expected. Once chosen, the seventy-six cast members began the long weeks of practice under the direction of Mrs. Pamela Ott. Mrs. Sharon Izor and Mr. Don Gooding began the difficult task of teaching the dancers their intricate steps. Mr. Dan Saathoff and Mrs. Jeanne Storts worked to harmonize the chorus voices, while Mr. E. Paul Lyon tuned up the stage band.

Behind the scenes the publicity committee made sure that everyone in the area knew that Highland High School was presenting Flower Drum Song. Their efforts paid off as ticket sales soared, much to the pleasure of Mr. Dale Schmalz and his ticket committee.



Lowell Frey looks on as Kevin Austin turns in his ticket money to ticket chairman Dick Volkers.

Perched precariously on a ladder, Herb Weder adjusts the spotlights.

Mrs. Ott gives cast members their last-minute instructions.

An outstanding scene in the musical was the Celestial Bar scene with the show girls.

A smooth performance resulted only from hours of practice. Above, the Corps Dancers work to master an intricate routine.

Efficiency Backstage

Weeks before the first performance Mrs. Ruth Christoe and her art class designed and painted sets and props. Mrs. Lila Manville and Mrs. Jan Inlow borrowed, created and sewed the numerous oriental costumes. Under the supervision of Miss Pamela Morgan and Mrs. Carolyn Iftner the cast was transformed into authentic-looking slant-eyed Chinese. Smooth acting during the performances was matched only by the furious, often frantic, work backstage. Stage manager Leonard Suhre saw that props were set into their correct positions. K. James Kerin tested microphones while Herb Weder aimed and controlled lights. The combined efforts of so many people certainly made Flower Drum Song an all-school musical.

Steve Diefenbach leads the dual life as an actor and propman.

Stage Manager Leonard Suhre watches to see that all runs smoothly.

Concentrating on the script, Betty Hartlieb gets the actors on stage in time.

Listening to the action onstage, K. James Kerin adjusts the microphones' pickup.

Sandra Immer creates an oriental face.

Being a member of the Chorus involved not only singing ability but acting ability as well.

Excellence Onstage

The days of April 10, 11, and 12 arrived. The music of the overture swelled, then diminished. The curtain opened. The spotlights flashed onto the set. The performance began. The actors became solely responsible for weaving the web which would draw the audience into the plot. Worries, nervousness, and tension subsided. Many rehearsals had paid off. Onstage and offstage, each person knew what had to be done. Under the magic spell of the spotlights, students forgot they were students and became the characters they portrayed. With professional skill which comes from practice, the actors covered any miscues and blunders and worked their way out of difficult situations. The resounding applause at the end of the performance was most appreciated payment for the many hours of work and fun which had gone into making Flower Drum Song a reality.

Sammy Fong, Alan Ambuehl, and Linda Low, Connie Braundmeier, imagine what life would be like on "Sunday, Sweet Sunday" if they were married.

Wang San, Bob Schmitt, and his friends Steve White, Wendy Izor, Barb Stieb, Dean Deibert, Jenny Izor and Page Rankin, discuss the problems of "The Other Generation."

Oriental traditions tell Mei Li, Diana Flemming, that she must marry the man chosen by her father and not Wang Ta, Ted Mettler, the man she loves.

Madam Liang, Sheila Stuckwisch, found difficulty in convincing Old Master Wang, Steve Luber, and Dr. Li, Ben Jay Alarcon, that times and customs change.

Helen Chow, Dede Wilson, sings the haunting song "Love Look Away," as she realizes that her love for Wang Ta will go unreturned.

A garden party offered the setting for "Chop Suey," one of the more spectacular numbers in the show.

Dim lights and flowing gowns aided in creating the effect of "Some Enchanted Evening."

Juniors Host Prom in S.I.U. Ballroom

Breaking with past prom traditions, the juniors hosted the seniors in the beautiful Southern Illinois University ballroom at Edwardsville. Leaving the familiar scene of HHS, the seniors crossed a picturesque bridge to "Some Enchanted Evening." Delighted with the elegant surroundings, the visitors, drowned in sparkling lights, danced around a quaint wishing well to the music of "The Kaleidoscope." Adding to the decor of the ballroom, the flowering trellis formed a lovely background for the wonderful memories of many couples that night. Relieved juniors after weeks of work, and grateful seniors enjoyed their evening at the Prom.

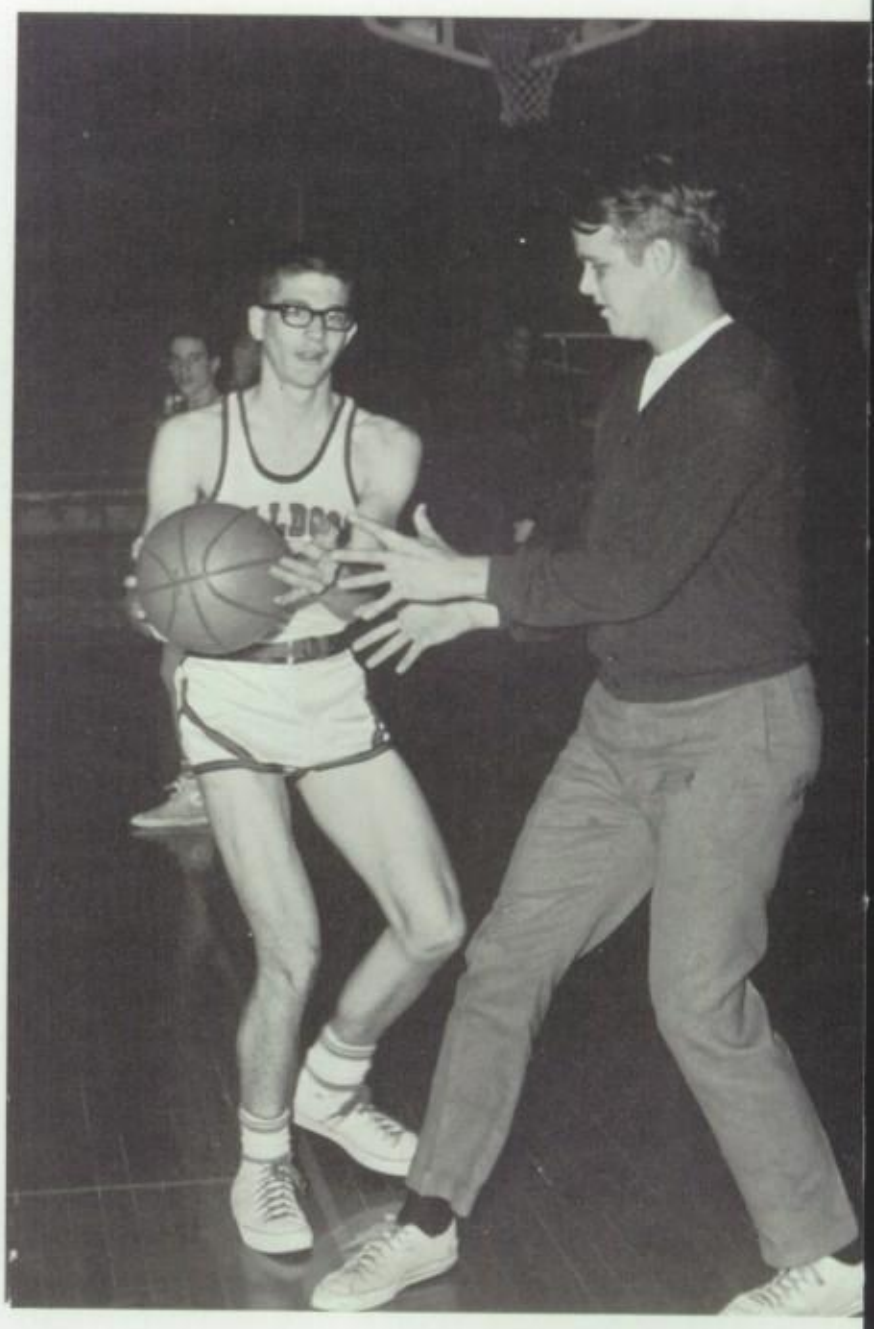
The faculty as well as the students, enjoyed the music that night.

Betty Hartlieb and Dick Eilers admire the fountain while getting their refreshments.

The night was enhanced by the use of the lovely bridge.

From September to May, HHS Abounds in Activities . . .

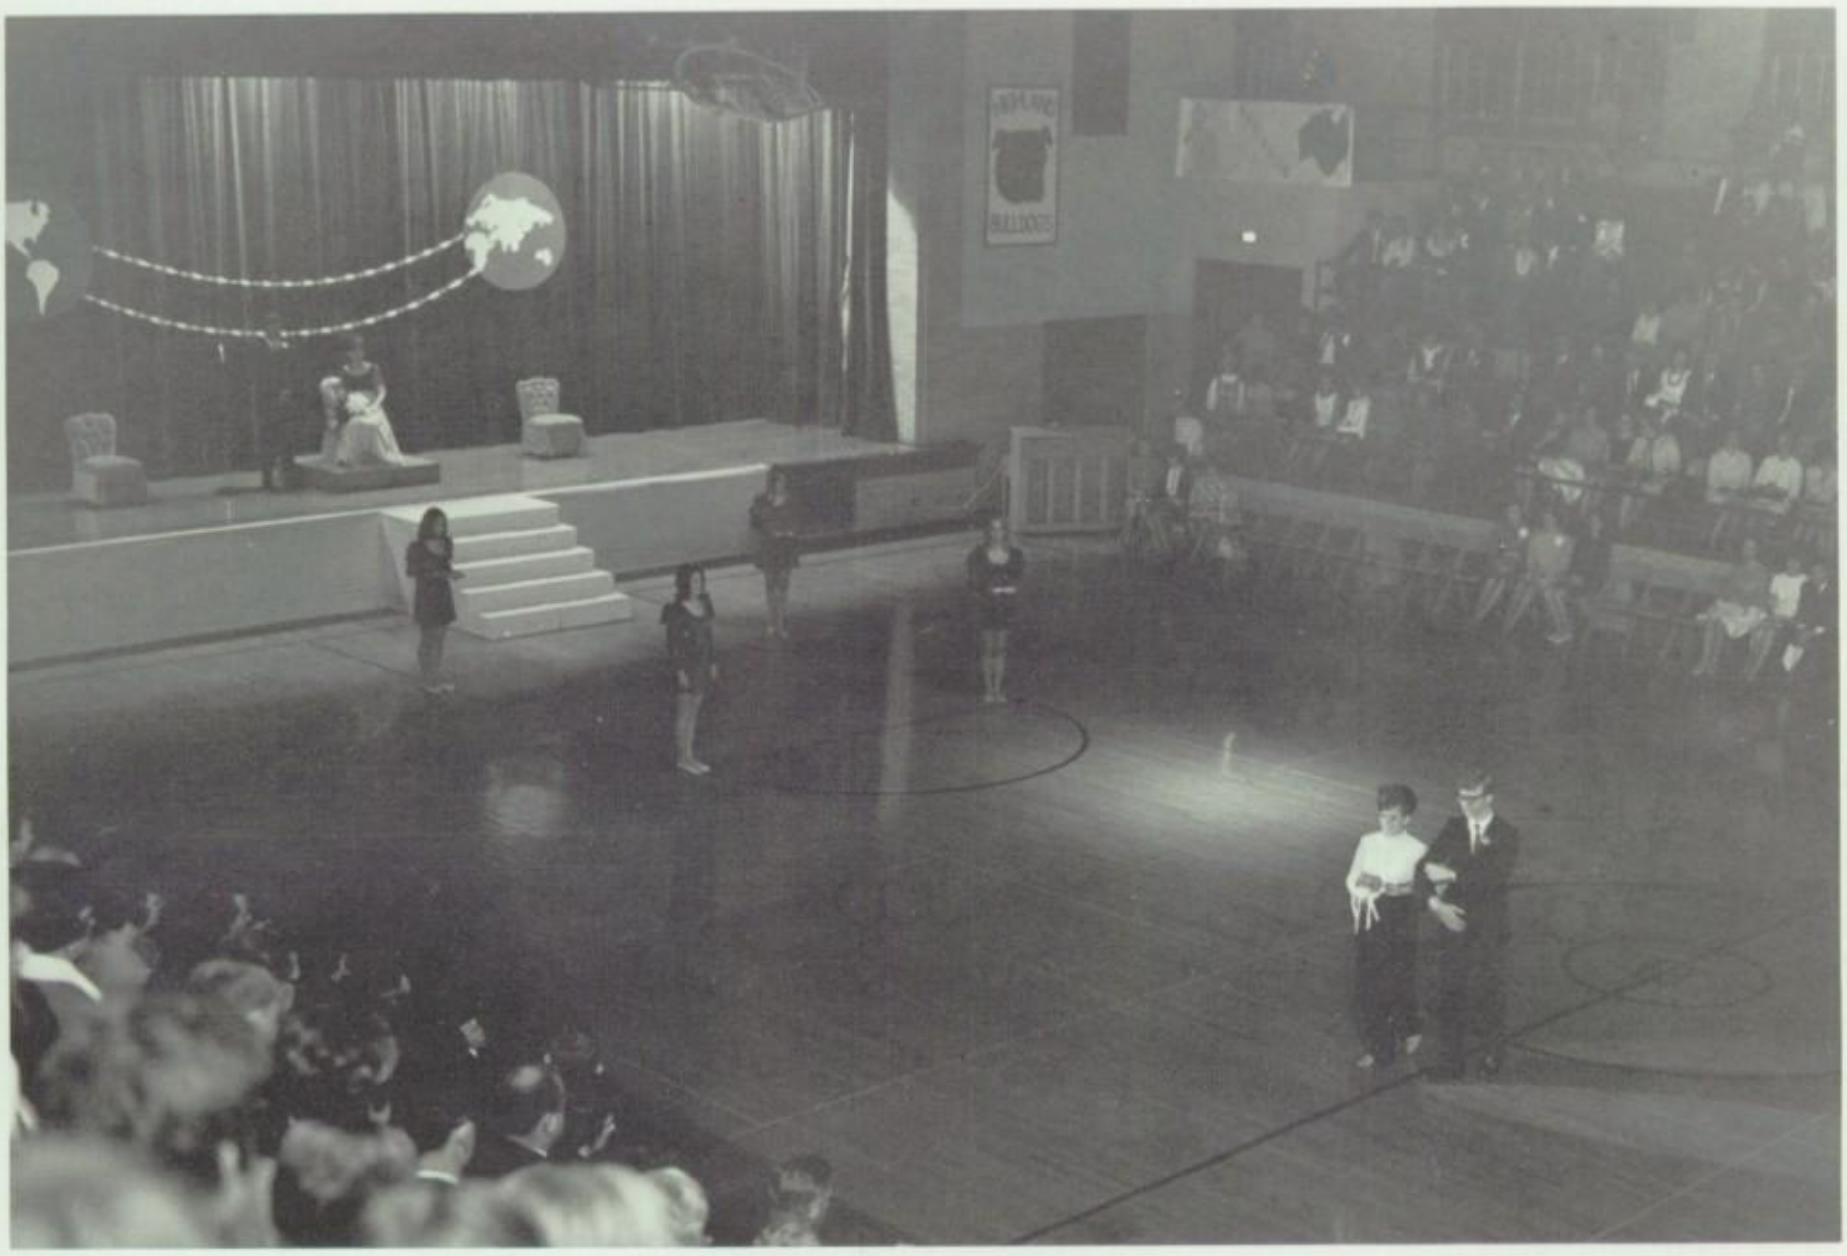
Parties, sock hops, and dances gave student band groups an opportunity to perform.



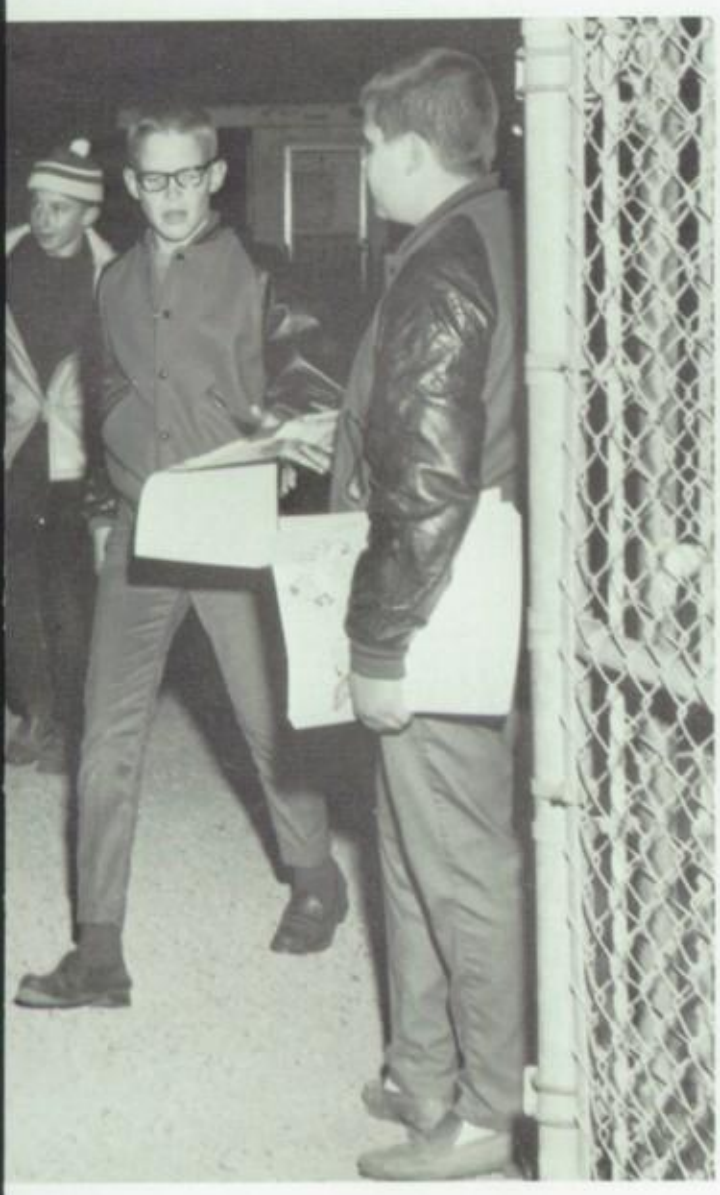
Bob Sudhoff gains a free basketball tip from the former Bulldog, Dean Burke, who now plays baseball with the Chicago Cubs.

Half the fun of a football game is buying an FHA candied apple.

A concert of light classical music presented by the SIU Concert Band brought a bit of culture into the HHS assemblies.



One of the most anticipated events of the year revolved around the Homecoming coronation and dance.



Loyal sports fans backed the Bulldogs even in cold weather.

The Video Tape Recording crew enjoyed a dinner with the VTR crew from Triad.

. . . Activities — Fun, Entertaining, Educational, and Rewarding

In a Student Council sponsored assembly, handwriting expert Dick Weber showed students how handwriting reveals personalities.

Early arrivers get the best seats during assemblies.

All eyes drifted out of classroom windows as a flag pole painter presented an unscheduled performance for the student body.

Recipients of the Woodmen of the World American History Award were Lynn Miener and Jim McGuire.

K. James Kerin carries home the Menz Award presented to the athlete with the highest grade-point average.

A most coveted honor, the Dee Boulanger Memorial Award, went to Mary Ann Daiber.

The American Legion Awards for outstanding seniors went to Jackie Lang and K. James Kerin.

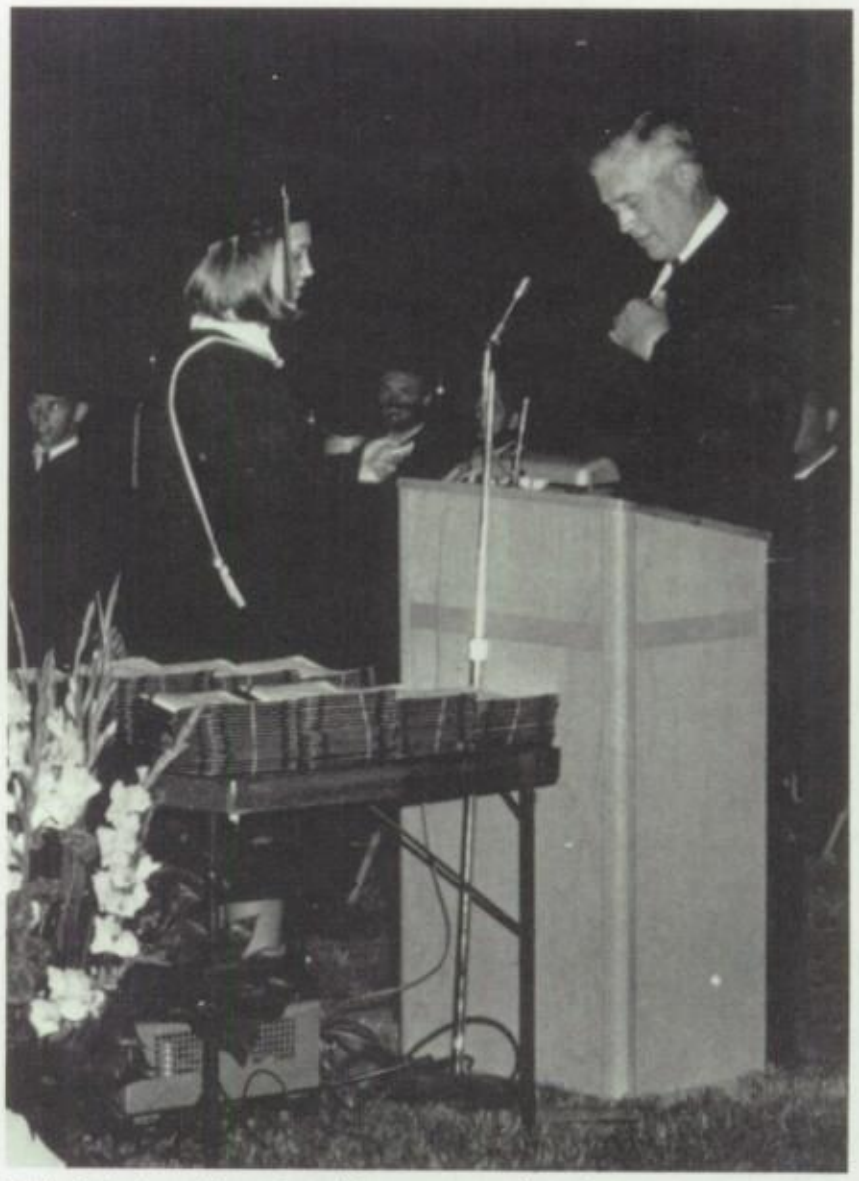
Larry Zobrist received the Speech Award for having improved the most in his Speech techniques.

A perfect ending of the school year was the annual Honors Day assembly where students received recognition for their efforts throughout the year. The awards were just one small way of thanking those students who had worked so hard.

Graduation: The End of the Beginning

As strains of the "Triumphal March" swelled from the band, seniors proudly filed into the football stadium. Quiet and attentive, the graduates listened to the words of Dr. Ben C. Hubbard, from Illinois State University, concerning conflicts they would now face.

The triumphal moment arrived when Mr. Quentin Ulrich, president of the Board of Education, awarded diplomas. Then slowly, no longer as students, but as alumni, 128 young men and women left the stadium on May 29, 1969 to enter the world and their future.



Valedictorian Kay Brendel receives her honor award from Superintendent Stratton.

The seniors selected Merle Roberts and Kathy Merkle to serve as Marshals in commencement exercises.

The class listens attentively to their class president Jim Abert and to speaker Dr. Hubbard.

Class of '69

Salutatorian Carol Henschen receives her diploma from Mr. Quentin Ulrich, president of the Board of Education.

Dr. Ben C. Hubbard challenges the class to face the conflicts which lie ahead.

Senior Class president Jim Abert greets the graduation audience on behalf of the class.

Administration Honors Scholars

Our Administration, the Board of Education, and Mr. Stratton paid tribute to the honor students of HHS by sponsoring a banquet for them. Seniors who achieved a 4.0 average and underclassmen who maintained 4.5 averages were invited to attend. Mr. Stratton and the Board of Education take an active part in the lives of all students by promoting the best possible curriculum to provide a well-balanced education.

We in HHS know Mr. Diefenbach, Mr. White, Lila, and Sharon as friends. They willingly offer assistance to anyone who needs help in a crisis which comes often in the lives of students. These people are just as important to a student's education as are his teachers.

Drama is an important part of the speech program. This year, classroom studies led to the production of "The Lottery" as the entry for the district speech contest.

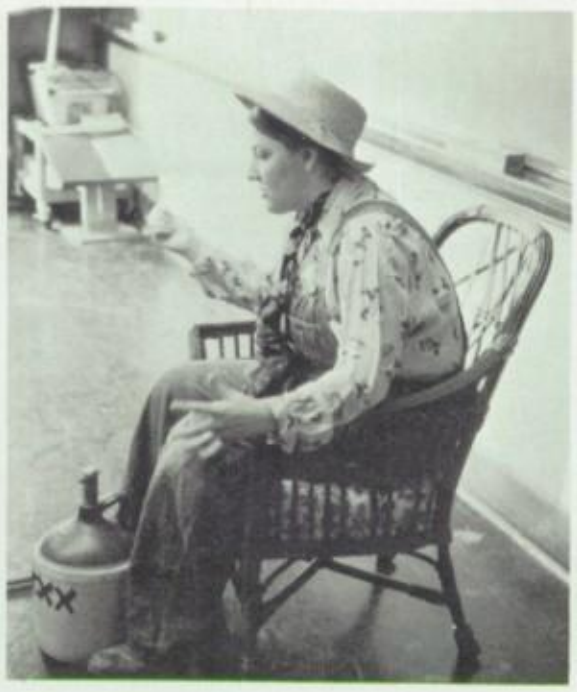
As demonstrated by Nancy Bastilla, home economics classes offer such practical training as sewing, cooking and home management.

"25 Years with the Bulldogs" was the inscription on the watch presented to Mr. Hilbert by his fellow teachers in honor of his 25th year of teaching at HHS. Mr. Hilbert's interest in conservation is often revealed as his classes meet outdoors.

Curriculum Provides for Vocational and College-Bound Students

A varied curriculum at HHS enables students to gain useful background for later life. The many programs included aid the student in deciding which path to trod. He finds the wide variety of course offerings helpful whether he plans to attend college or go into a particular occupation.

Dianne Dodd finds that our library offers a good supply of reference material for her term paper.



Marie Lutz expresses her creative ability by telling an original tall tale as part of an English project.

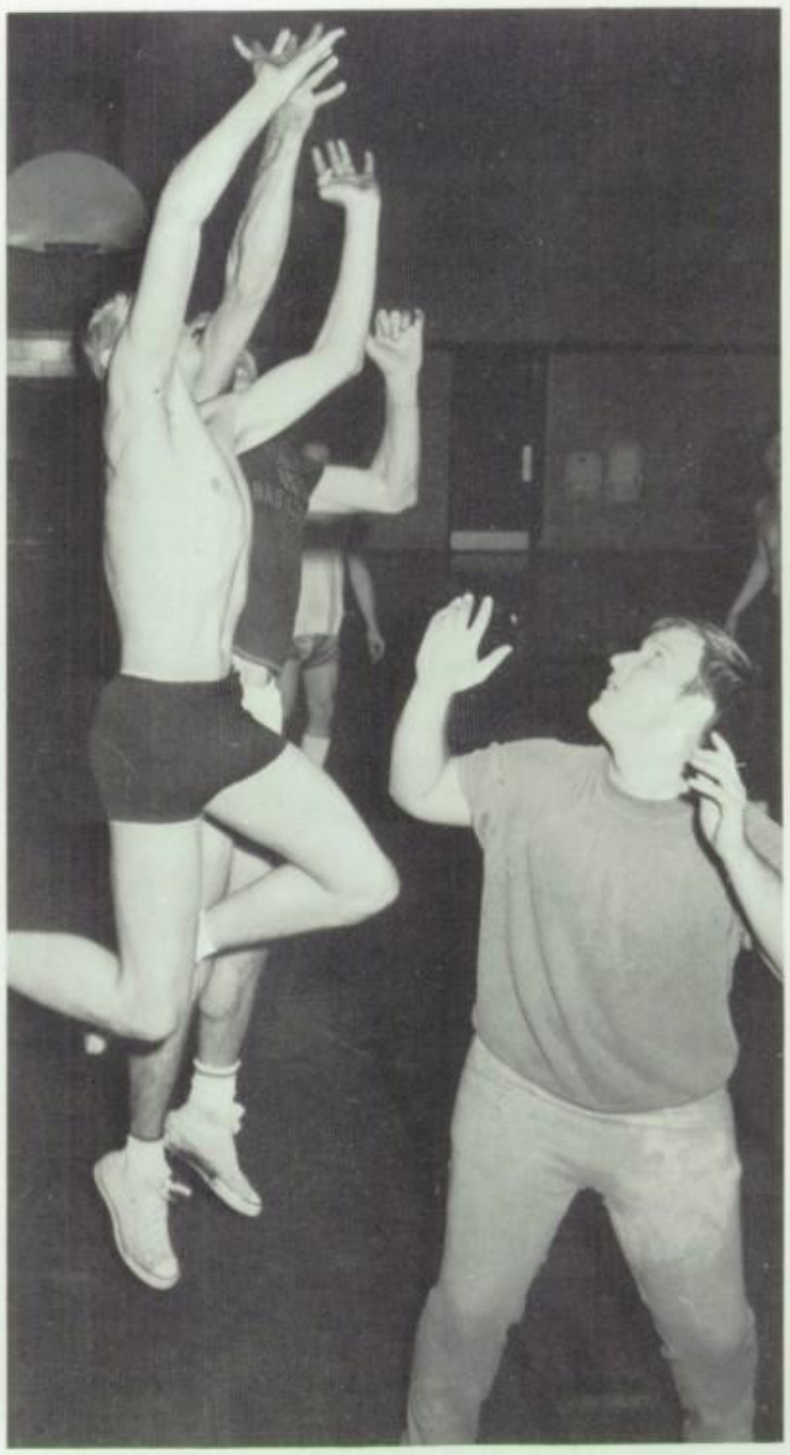
Biology comes to life for students Robert Bohnenstiehl and Mark Gelly as Mr. Grodeon explains the process of dissection during a lab period.

Mr. Mihevc was given a good luck, farewell cake by one of his classes.

Instructional Materials Aid Students and Teachers

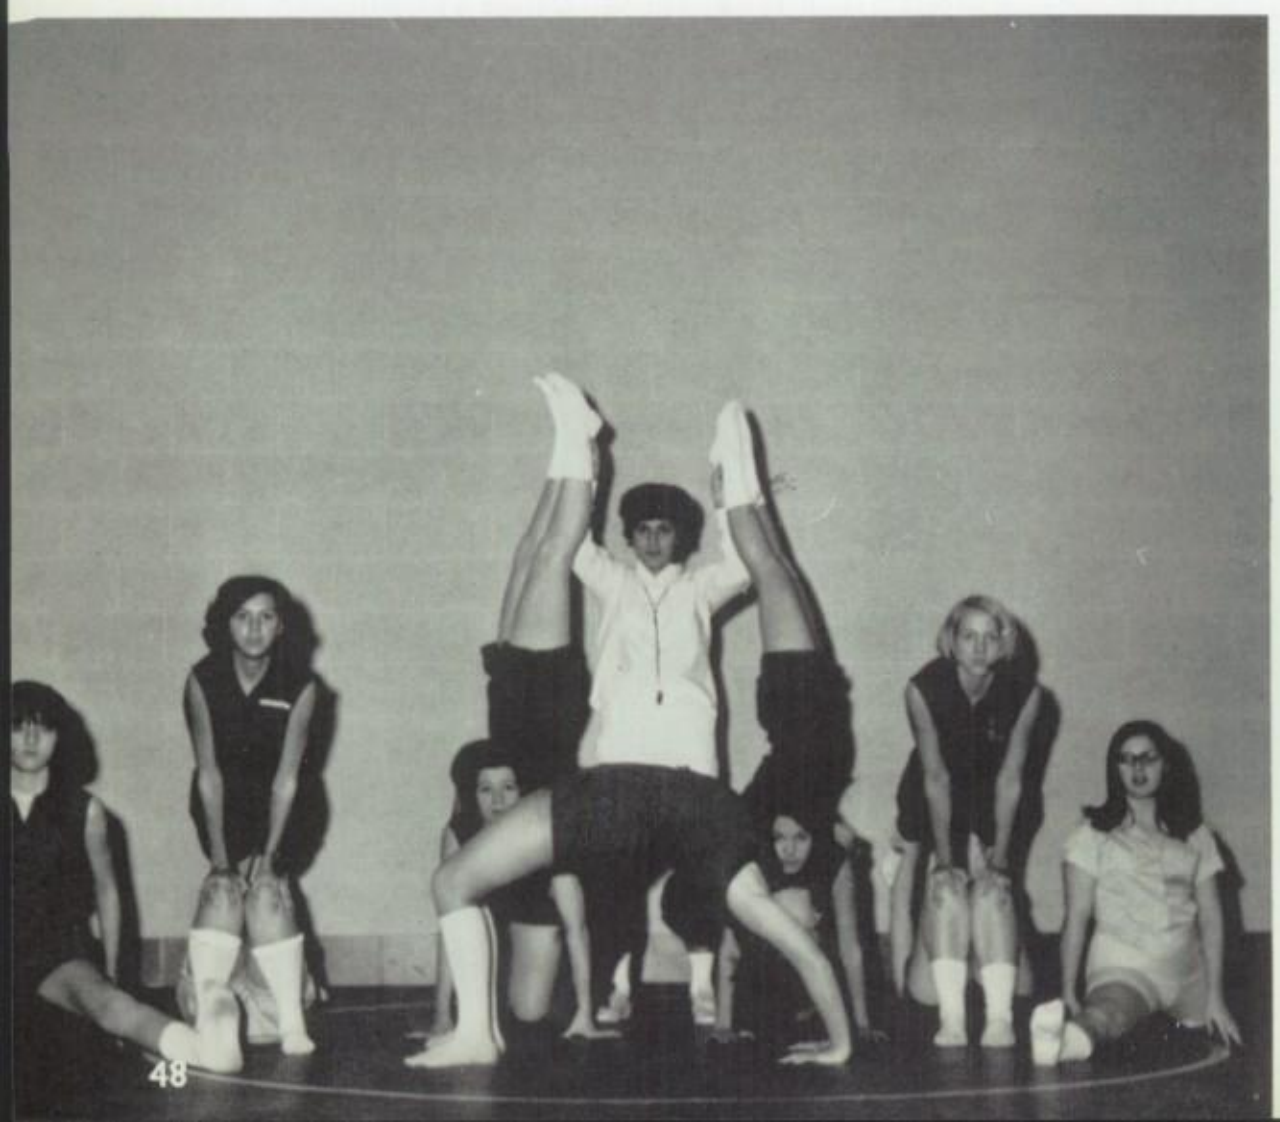
Added to the instructional materials at HHS was the Video Tape Recorder, known by the students as the VTR. This served as a great teaching aid both in the classroom and for sports. It was also useful for recording many activities during the year.

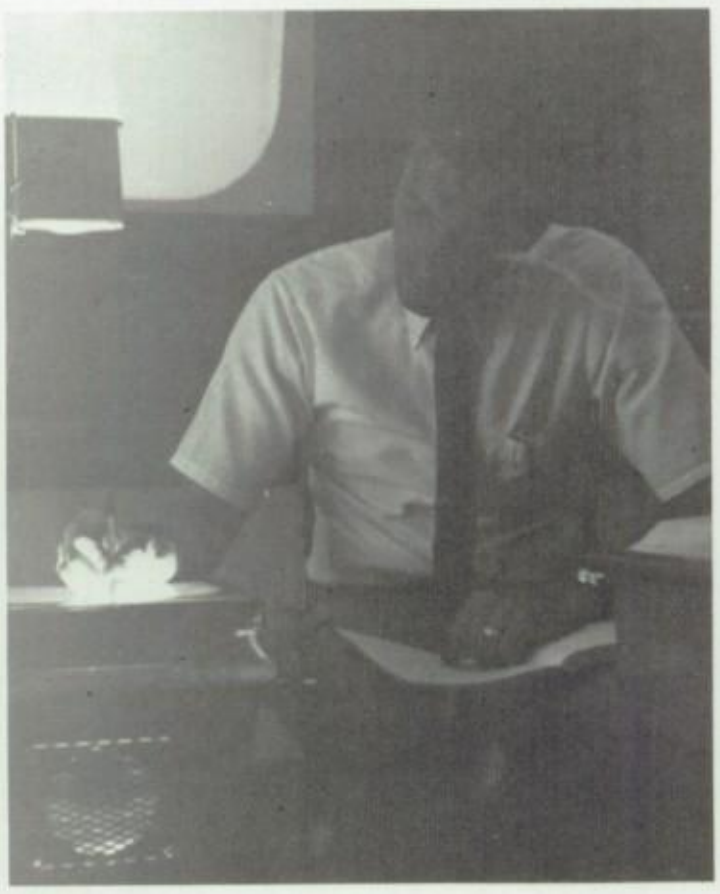
HHS is also privileged to have overhead projectors, films, phonographs, tape recorders, and a growing library. These help to make the teaching job easier and also attracts the interest of the students.



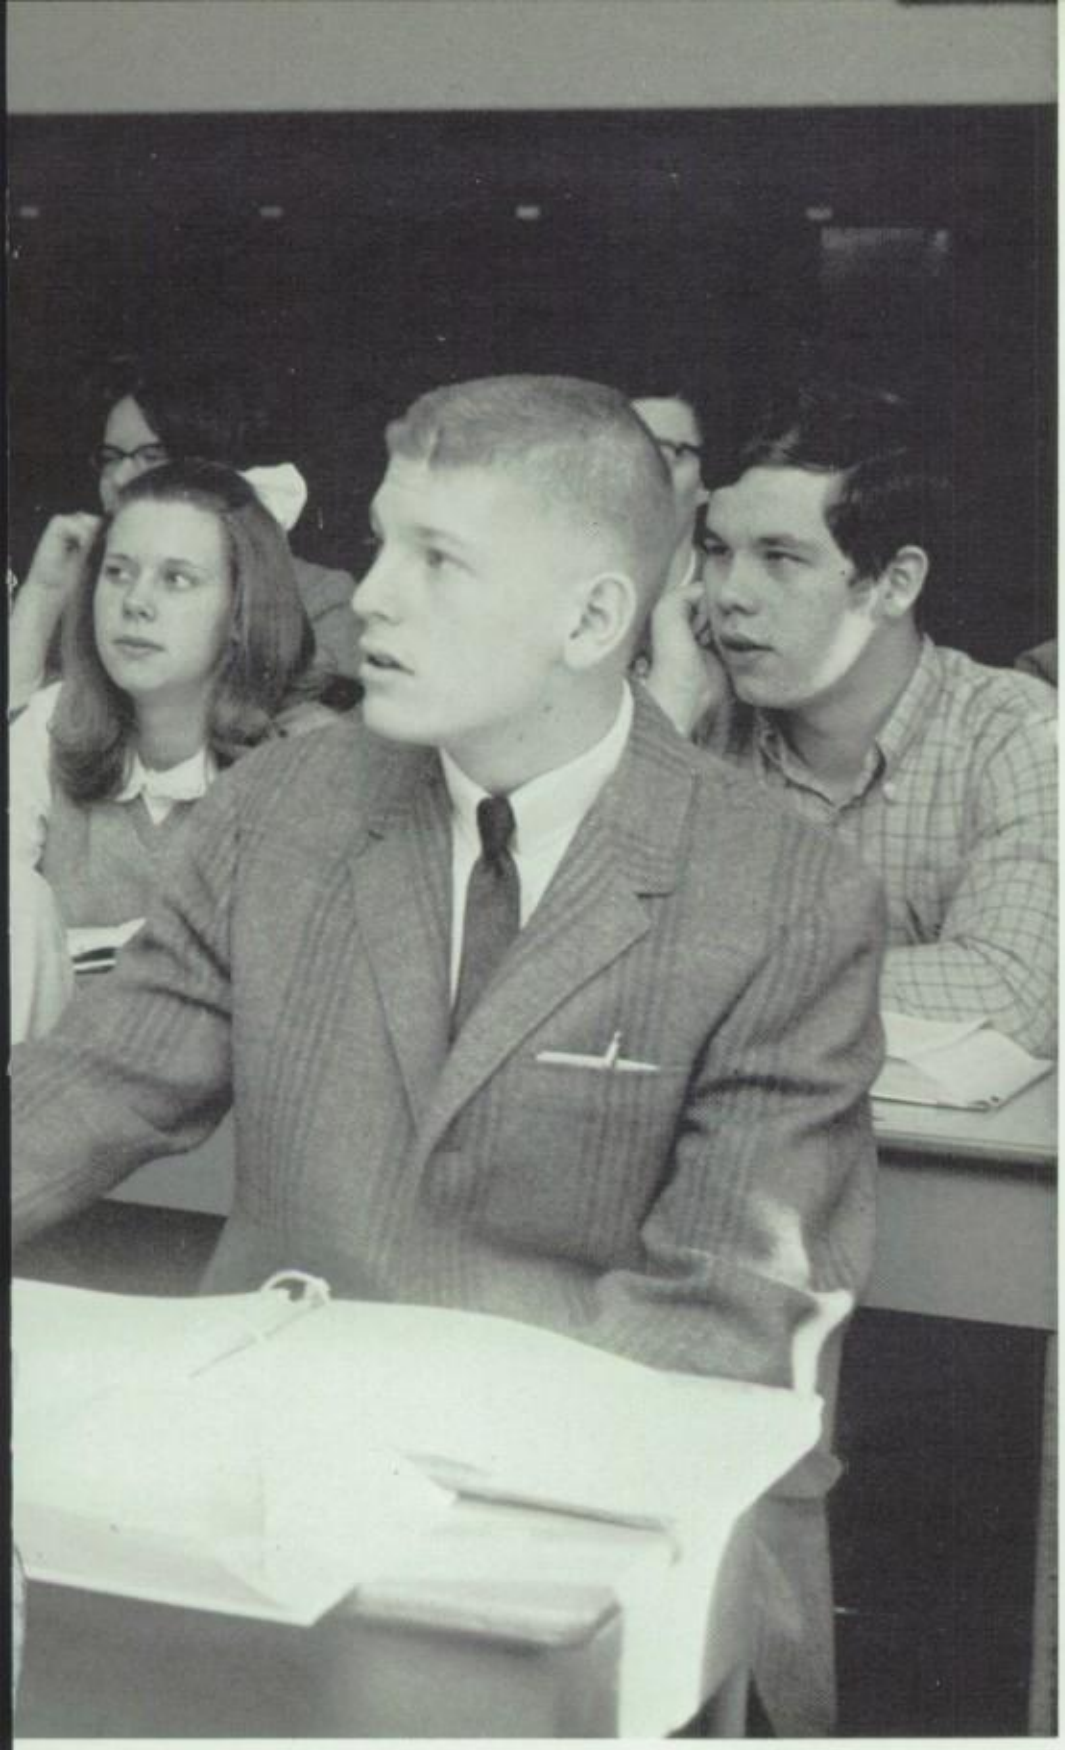
Mr. Kraft stands ready to dodge any falling bodies in a heated game of basketball during one of his P.E. classes.

With the help of student teacher, Miss Betty Shugart, girls in P.E. find they can form intricate pyramids.

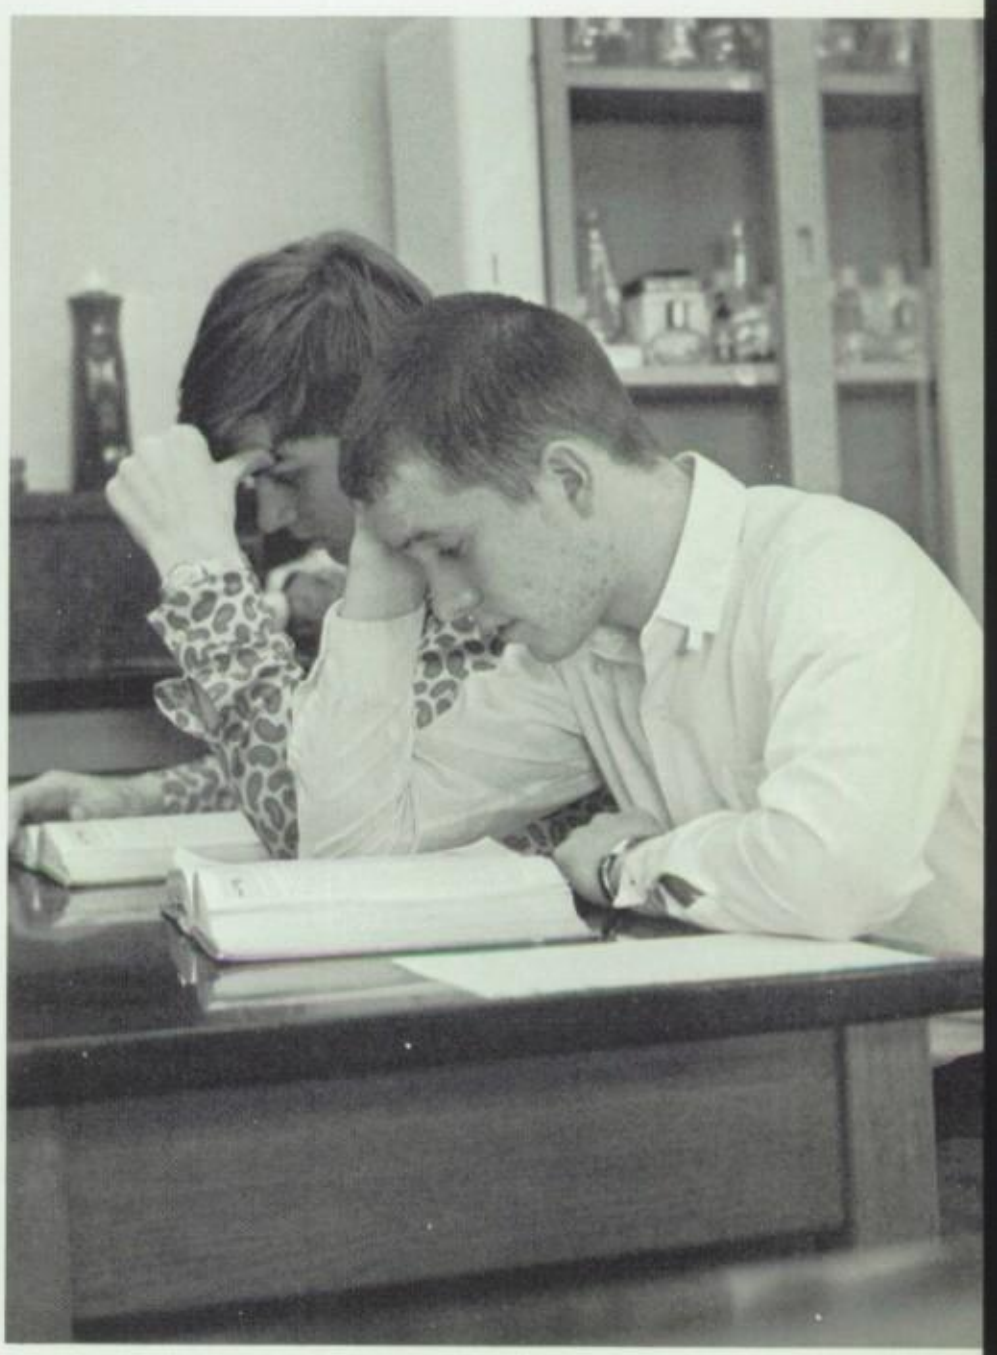




Mr. Iftner uses the overhead projector in explaining the steps to solving a problem.



A well-planned discussion leads to student interest.



Bill Vogel and John Foederer find supplementary textbooks helpful for class preparation.

VTR Staff: Jim Abert, Kay Franz, Herb Weder, Ted Mettler, Jan Weder, Steve Landert, K. James Kerin, Greg Bosché, Dave Sauer, Steve Diefenbach.

New Planning and Programs Meet Needs of Growing HHS

Although involved in the many current activities of HHS, administrators and faculty also found time to plan for coming years. Among these plans are curriculum revisions for next year and the prospects of a new high school in future years. Registering for the 1969-70 school year proved to be a different experience as the courses offered were divided into semesters instead of full year courses.

Students rely upon Mr. Diefenbach's advice on many subjects.

Warm weather brings the HHS marching band out to practice for upcoming summer parades.

In early September our business department moved into this new air-conditioned building known as the Annex.

Mr. Lyon conducts the half time show at one of our home football games.

Moving into the Annex involved combined efforts of students and custodians.

Ripperda Sets Cross Country Course Record at O'Fallon

Cross Country, like most sports, takes an enormous amount of will power and determination. Although as a team Highland had a rough season, one runner was able to establish a course record.

Jerry Ripperda set a record at the O'Fallon Tri-meet. Jerry ran the two mile course in 12 minutes, 15 seconds.

Jerry "Rip" Ripperda builds his endurance in a race with Steve Miller.

Anticipating future races, Steve Kiraly runs the practice course.

Although the season itself was disappointing and the Bulldogs ended up with an 0 and 8 record, several squad members did receive honors in the all star team.

Bruce Ricketts won a place on the defensive all-star team as defensive end. Bruce was the only Highland player named for the first team. Dorsey Gibbons and Jim Abert were selected for the second offensive team and Bill Braswell for the second defense team.

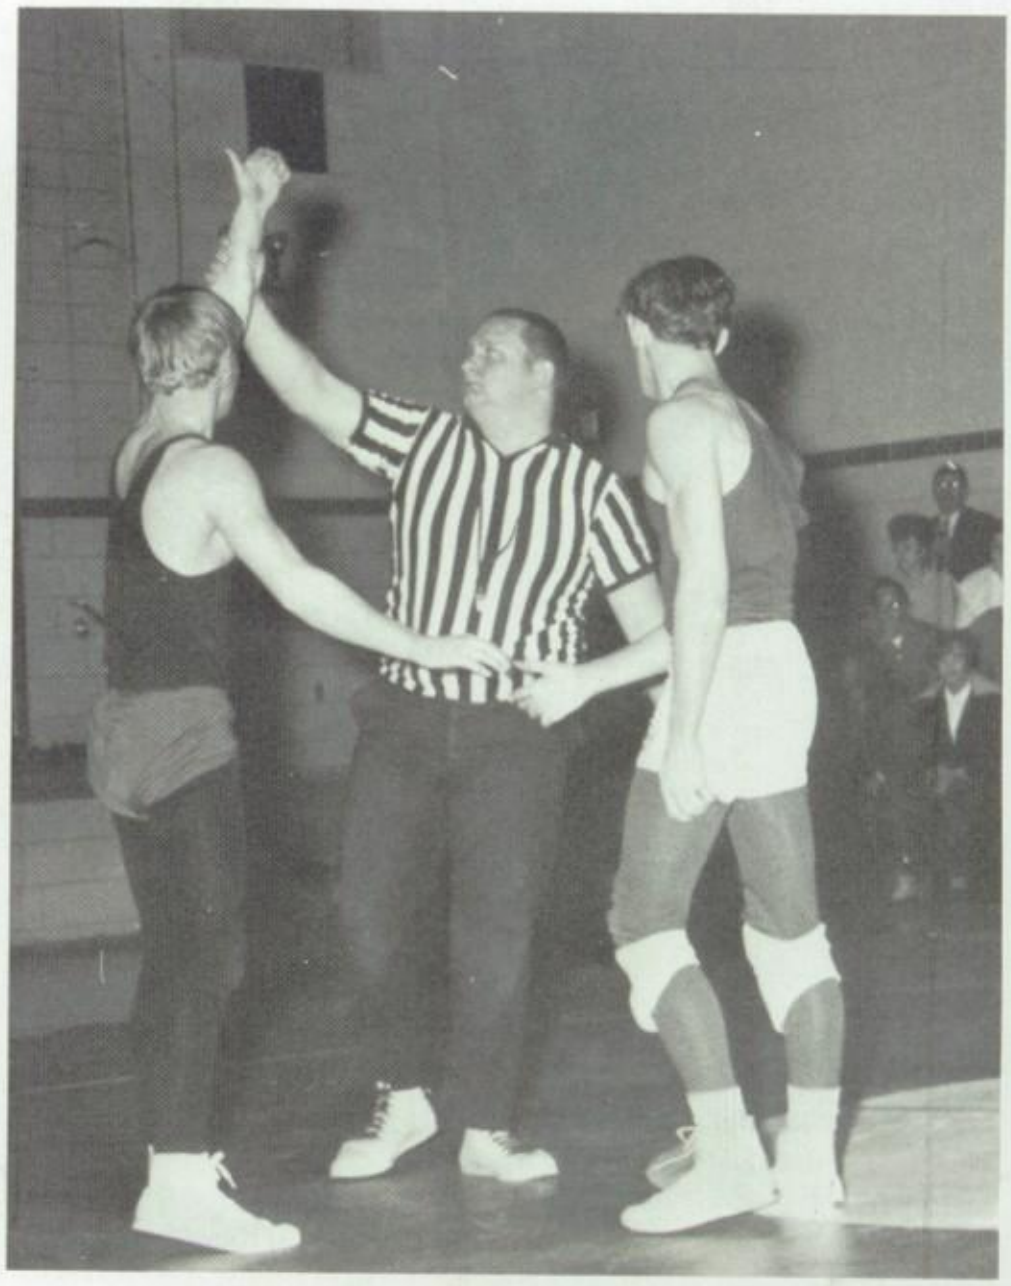
Grapplers Make HHS Sports History

With the outstanding record of 11 wins and 4 losses, the Highland wrestling team had the most successful wrestling season in the school's history.

The team won the first six matches in a row, then fell into a slump. With much determination to break the three match losing streak, Highland defeated Carrollton 39 to 13.

Ron Mueller finished fourth place in the 133-pound class in the district meet. Ron was the only Bulldog to go to the district meet.



Ron Mueller brings home another victory for the grapplers.

Randy Ammann Selected Athlete of Year

One of the highest tributes that can be paid to an athlete at HHS is the coveted honor of being named Athlete of the Year. The recipient of this award is selected by his fellow athletes for being the most outstanding and valuable player of the year, usually in more than one sport. The athlete's name is then added to a special plaque and placed in the trophy case.

This year the award was presented to Randy Ammann who participated in football and served as captain of the basketball team.

Randy was captain of the basketball team and a successful scorer. As quarterback on the football team, he not only made plays but also foiled his opponents.

Homecoming Queen Jackie Lang presented Randy with his award on Awards' Day.

for Future

Al Ramach, Gaye Michael, Steve Luber and Gary Goestenkors, the members of the Distance Medley team set a record at the Roxana Relays. These four boys scored points in every meet. Jerry Ripperda, Vern Perkins, Ed Sievers, Roger Rutz, and Brad Michael were other consistent point getters.

Gaye Michael broke the only school record this year. Gaye ran the 440-yard dash in 52.3. Craig Manwaring held the old record with a 52.9.

The Bulldogs placed in the hurdles, thanks to the efforts of Alan Ramach.

Baseball Bulldogs Slide Into Slump

Coach Monken's young team ended its season with a 1 and 9 record. However, the junior varsity record of 6 and 0 gives Highland hopes of perhaps carrying home a conference crown next year.

Jim Peterson of the varsity squad was one of the team's better hitters. Jim, third baseman, bats around the .400 mark.

Ugh! And another contestant in HHS's first pie eating contest bit the dust, or should we say pie. The contest, a highlight of Student Council Week, was only one of the firsts that HHS experienced this year through the efforts of our school's governing body.

Our Student Council went all out to make this the best year HHS has ever had. Things started off with a bang as Homecoming Week arrived. The theme this year was "Around the World." A fifteen dollar prize was awarded the winning float, a first for HHS. Another first was the contest to name our new mascot. "Fat Albert" was the winning name and Jim Abert was the winning "brain." Through the efforts of our Student Council Homecoming was a success.

Members also helped with the blood bank, were in charge of several student exchanges with other schools, and held many sock-hops after home games. A special "mock" election was held in honor of election year.

Teacher Appreciation Day found Ted Mettler in Mr. Diefenbach's chair with Connie Louer as his loyal, obedient secretary.

"Fat Albert," our new mascot, received his name in a Student Council Naming Contest and rode in a place of honor in the Homecoming Parade.

Dances, Assemblies Highlight Council Year.

Student Council Week started off with Teacher Appreciation Day. Council members took over the teachers' jobs for the day, not only giving the teachers a break, but the students as well. The Pie Eating Contest was a new addition this year, Senior Raymond Moore won with a record twelve pieces in fifteen minutes. The climax to the week came on Friday. It was then that members of the Student Council made up judge and jury of our Kangaroo "Bad Manners" Court. The height of excitement was reached when Mrs. Ott, Miss Kuhn, Mr. Burke, and Mr. Mihevc were fined "no homework assignments for the rest of the day" for conspiricy in making anonymous phone calls to Principal Mettler on Teacher Appreciation Day.

Always searching for new ideas and improvements, the Student Council sent Tom Wenzel and Steve Luber as the delegates to the State Convention held April 25 and 26 in Chicago.

Drawing the year to a close, Student Council sponsored the Spring Dance, the finishing touch to a wonderful year.

NHS Sells Homemade Candy

Candy selling, a new venture for the NHS was sure to be a success. Students and faculty alike smacked their lips over the creamy fudge and heavenly hash. In another money raising project, the NHS combined forces with the JCL to sponsor a highly successful sock hop.

This year a record number of eight juniors and twelve seniors were awarded with membership in the National Honor Society. After Dr. Kimbal from SIU Edwardsville had presented the speech, a festive mood prevailed among members and their families as they enjoyed refreshments.

As always, the NHS school directory and employment file were appreciated by students and community alike.

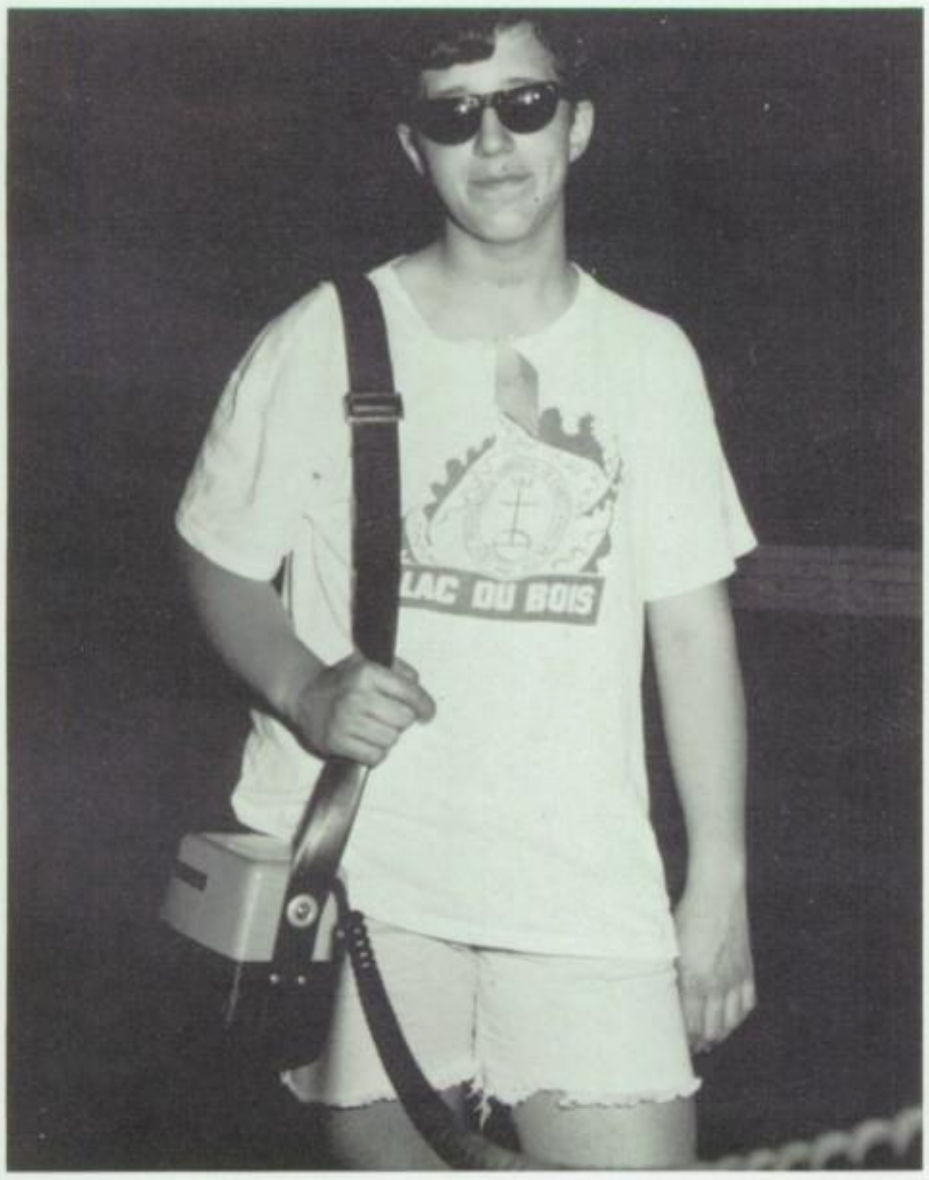
Number of Pages in the Yearbook



An unusual sight at any school event was to find photographer Mark Kyle without his camera in his hands.

Working diligently, the Iris staff strived throughout the year to produce our Highland High School yearbook. The yearbook had its start with the selling of ads. After most of the ads had been sold, attentions were turned to more important matters, like lost folders, unwritten copy, and meeting deadlines.

It wasn't all work, though. There were things like Mr. Ott's annual surprise birthday party to keep the members moving.

Despite the trials and tribulations of composing a yearbook, the staff members hope it will be an excellent record of an exciting and memorable school year.

With the donations of HHS students, the Future Business Leaders of America once again succeeded in collecting money for the heart fund drive. Among their other service activities, the FBLA sponsored a Thanksgiving and Valentine's party for the children at the Maryville Orphanage.

At the FBLA Christmas party, alumni members, secretaries and members discovered that only a few pennies could buy any small item during the white elephant auction. Career night in March increased the student interest in a business future as they heard short talks given by some of the local businessmen.

As a conclusion for a successful year, an installation of all the new officers was held during a weiner roast at the City Lake. Even though the air was chilly, there was a warm reception for the officers and a very pleasant time for everyone.

Library Club Visits St. Louis Public Library

A visit to the St. Louis Public Library gave the Library Club a better understanding of the complexities of a large library.

Mrs. Lyon again sponsored the activities of the Library Club. This year's members occupied their time with a mini-float in the homecoming parade and visited campus libraries to learn various new techniques.

Spanish Club Creates Interest in Spanish Culture

Throughout the year, Spanish Club members work to promote interest in the Spanish culture. Through films, programs, skits, and songs, the spirit of old Spain was kept alive. In addition to its varied programs, Spanish clubbers put their heads together and created a second place winning float in the Homecoming competition. Much effort also went into the annual club party in the spring. For the gala occasion, members learned authentic dances and served genuine Mexican foods.

In a skit presented at the Spanish Club party, Anna Lindgens reads a story to a "captive" audience.

Refreshments at the Spanish Club Party were a mixture of the genuine Spanish and the traditional American.

French Club Enjoys French Cuisine

Our French Club promotes the language and culture of the French people not only by the many French skits given at their meetings but by their annual French banquet. Plans for the banquet started in early December with committees making sure everything would fall neatly into place the evening of the banquet. Barbequed chicken was the main course of. this year's banquet. As the members ate, the blue, white, and red decorations gave the banquet an air of French nationality.

Jon Sellers eagerly awaits the oncoming banquet.

Art Club Tours, Travels, and Paints

Topping off an exciting year, the Art Club packed suitcases and left for a fun-filled weekend in downtown Chicago. They fought the cold and wind to visit many beautiful art exhibits and historic museums. The Art Club rounded out the year by using their excellent creative ability to paint scenery for our all-school musical. Also, the club took their annual Metropolitan Education Cultural Art trip to Saint Louis which proved both educational and exciting.

AFS Welcomes Exchange Students

Keeping interest alive in the foreign exchange program, members of the American Field Service gave a royal welcome to exchange students Doris Lau and Boliver Bravo. At meetings, members learned about other countries from Doris and Bolivar as well as from Joann Netzer, an HHS student who traveled to Uruguay last summer through the efforts of AFS.

Making concrete plans for the future, the club urged students to consider studying abroad, sought a home for next year's foreign student, and planned a more active program for the coming year.

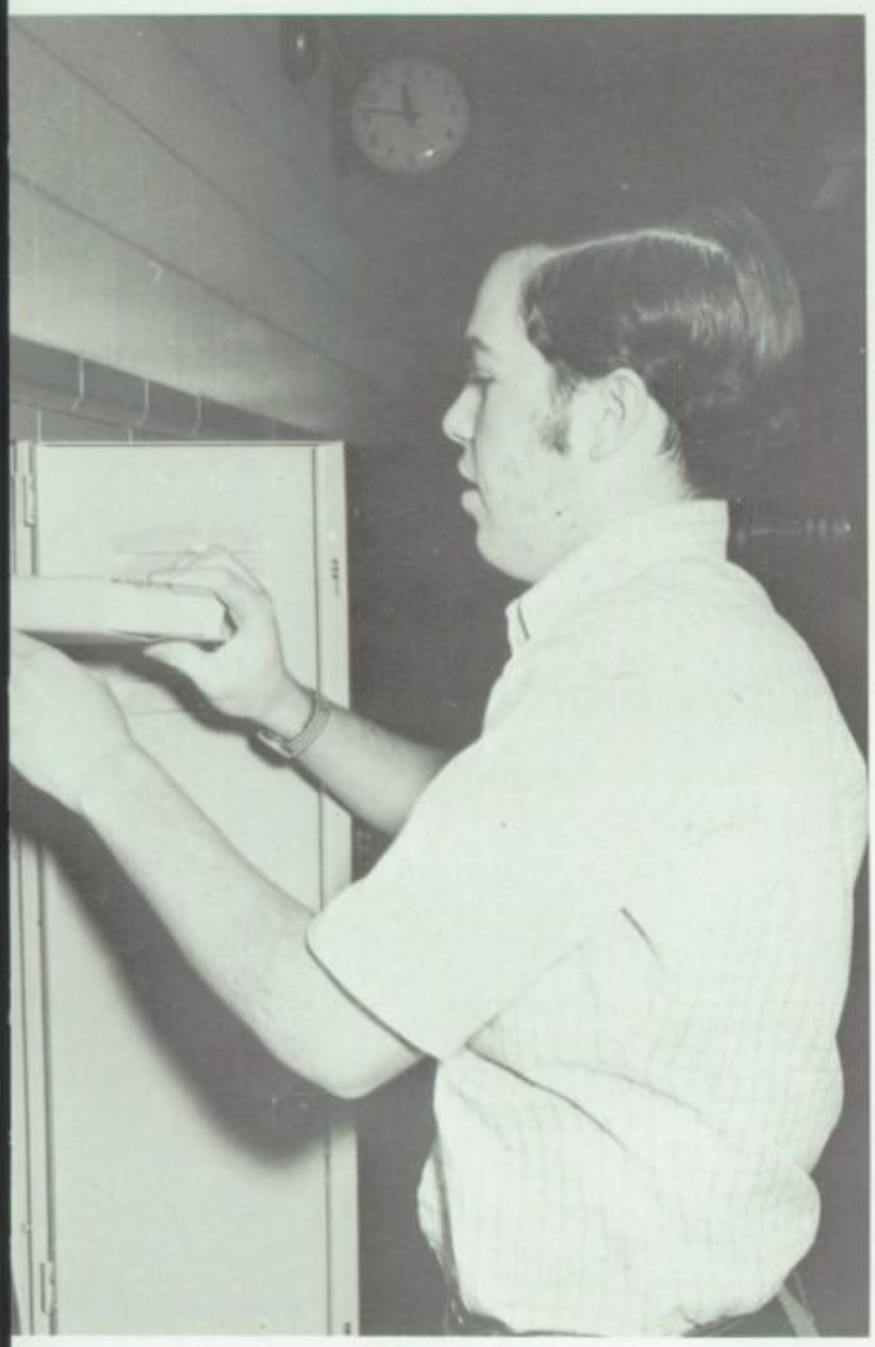
Members raised funds through a popcorn stand and an Around-the-World bake sale in the summer. They also enjoyed helping to sponsor a production of Sleeping Beauty presented by the British Wives at Christmas.

A farewell party for Bolivar and a farewell picnic for Doris concluded the eventful year.

Dave Schoen tries his skill at horseback riding on the AFS picnic.

Doris Lau's warm smile enlivened HHS's halls.

Doris and Bolivar might be laughing about the antics which typified last year at HHS, but when it comes out in Spanish, who can be sure?!



Bolivar knows that getting the right books for a class is a must.

HHS was fortunate again in having two exchange students attending HHS. Both Doris Lau and Bolivar Bravo came to the U.S. through the International Fellowship program.

A petite Peruvean of Chinese descent, Doris Lau spent six months at HHS. Smiling and active, she participated in classes and other HHS activities, including surprise parties, the prom and the all school musical. All of which resulted in many friendships for Doris and the students of HHS.

Direct from Santiago, Chile, and from a just-completed school year, Bolivar Bravo arrived here in January to spend his "summer vacation" at HHS. Diving into American life, Bolivar was able to enjoy our winter sports, struggle through several subjects, and keep pace with a host of new-found friends.

Within a short period of time, Doris and Bolivar became a part of HHS. We shall miss them.

"Ex domine" sang the chorus as they prepared for the spring concert. Learning to pronounce Latin was one of the necessities of being in chorus this year. Besides presenting their annual three concerts, the chorus provided special music at the NHS induction ceremony.

Caroling by the Chamber Chorale hastened the Christmas spirit. They filled the air with carols from the grade school to the Highland and Helvetia Homes. Later in the year they entertained an appreciative audience at the Honor Banquet. Both the Freshman Sextet and the Chamber Chorale participated in an ensemble contest where they were able to compare their music department with those of many other communities.

Even before school started, the HHS band was already "where the action is." They marched in both the Grantfork and Alhambra homecomings in the summer. Then soon after classes began, the marching band took to the road to become a part of SIU's Band Day. After cheering the Saluke football players they joined fifteen other bands to present a half time show spectacular. Home again, the marching band furnished half time entertainment for HHS football, and the Pep band beat out rousing rhythms at basketball games.

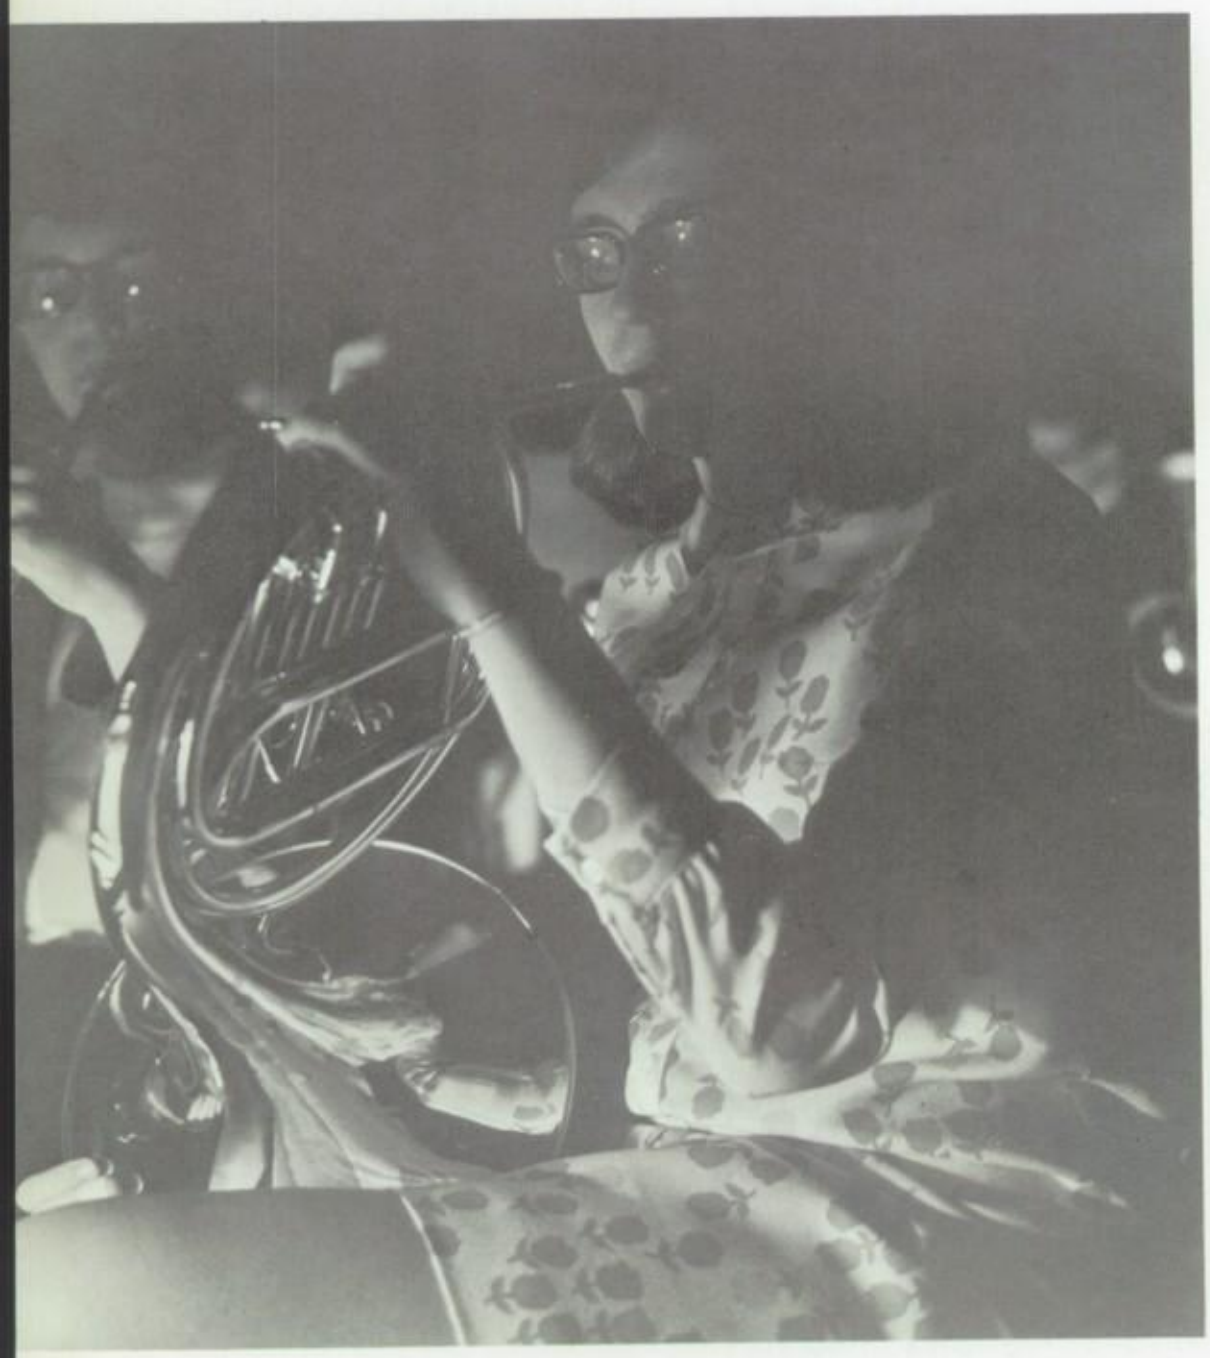
Concerts, Clinics, and Ensembles

The "Flower Drum Song" Stage Band includes, above: Director Mr. Lyon. FIRST ROW: S. Landert, M. Kyle, M. Rogier. SECOND ROW: Mr. D. Gooding, R. Koelz, R. Ammann. THIRD ROW: S. Bauchens, T. Dunn. Right: Mrs. J. Storts. FIRST ROW: J. Steiner, S. Morgan, D. Gibbons. SECOND ROW: J. Essenpreis, K. King, J. Netzer, R. Schuetz. THIRD ROW: R. Frutiger.



Both pensive and moody music flows from Myra Rogier's French horn.

As January blew in, the band met Mr. Gooding, who will act as Mr. Lyon's assistant and director of the marching band. As the weather grew colder, the marching band transformed itself into a concert band; large crowds at the performances indicated it was highly successful. Throughout the winter, the band sent different members to out-of-town music festivals. After one such festival, Kathy King on an alto clarinet, was selected to participate in an All-State sight-reading clinic.

As the year drew to a close, new doors opened. Members of the brass section began a promising brass choir. Then music intertwined with acting and a specially selected stage band became part of the "Flower Drum Song." When new doors open, old ones shut. As the seniors were enjoying a traditional meal at the "Lyon's Den," many young musicians were again donning uniforms and training for a marching band.

Winning Float, Christmas Party and Man

Janna Kamm, Connie Lang, and Nancee Carrillon prepare gifts for the children's Christmas party.

Sue Flemming and Nancy Grotefendt crawl upon Santa's lap to tell him their Christmas wishes.

Children's faces lit up like Christmas lights as jolly Saint Nick appeared at the Children's Christmas party. Members themselves crawled upon Santa's lap telling him all their Christmas wishes. Earlier in the year, FHA members' faces gleamed with pride as they achieved first place on their homecoming float entitled "Wind Up the Knights." Formal and informal initiation added memories of both pleasure and seriousness to the new members as they were inducted into this active organization. Mothers sighed with disbelief at the Mother-Daughter Banquet as masses of spaghetti were heaped on their plates. Visiting patients at the Alton State Hospital proved rewarding to many of the members. In observation of FHA Week, the Future Homemakers of America sponsored Mr. and Mrs. Trash as one of their daily projects.

As the year came to a close, the FHA took their semester trip to St. Louis. Adding a spring touch to the PTA meeting, the FHA members strolled through the streets of Paris modelling their latest sewing fashions.

Service Projects Highlight FHA Year

Junior and senior members are FIRST ROW: K. Hagerman, S. Flemming, S. Allen, B. Kantner, R. Plog, P. Federer, L. Good, D. Calliotte, V. Pres. C. Nagell. SECOND ROW: G. Bricker, M. Lutz, B. GAA Members Travel to Cobblestone for

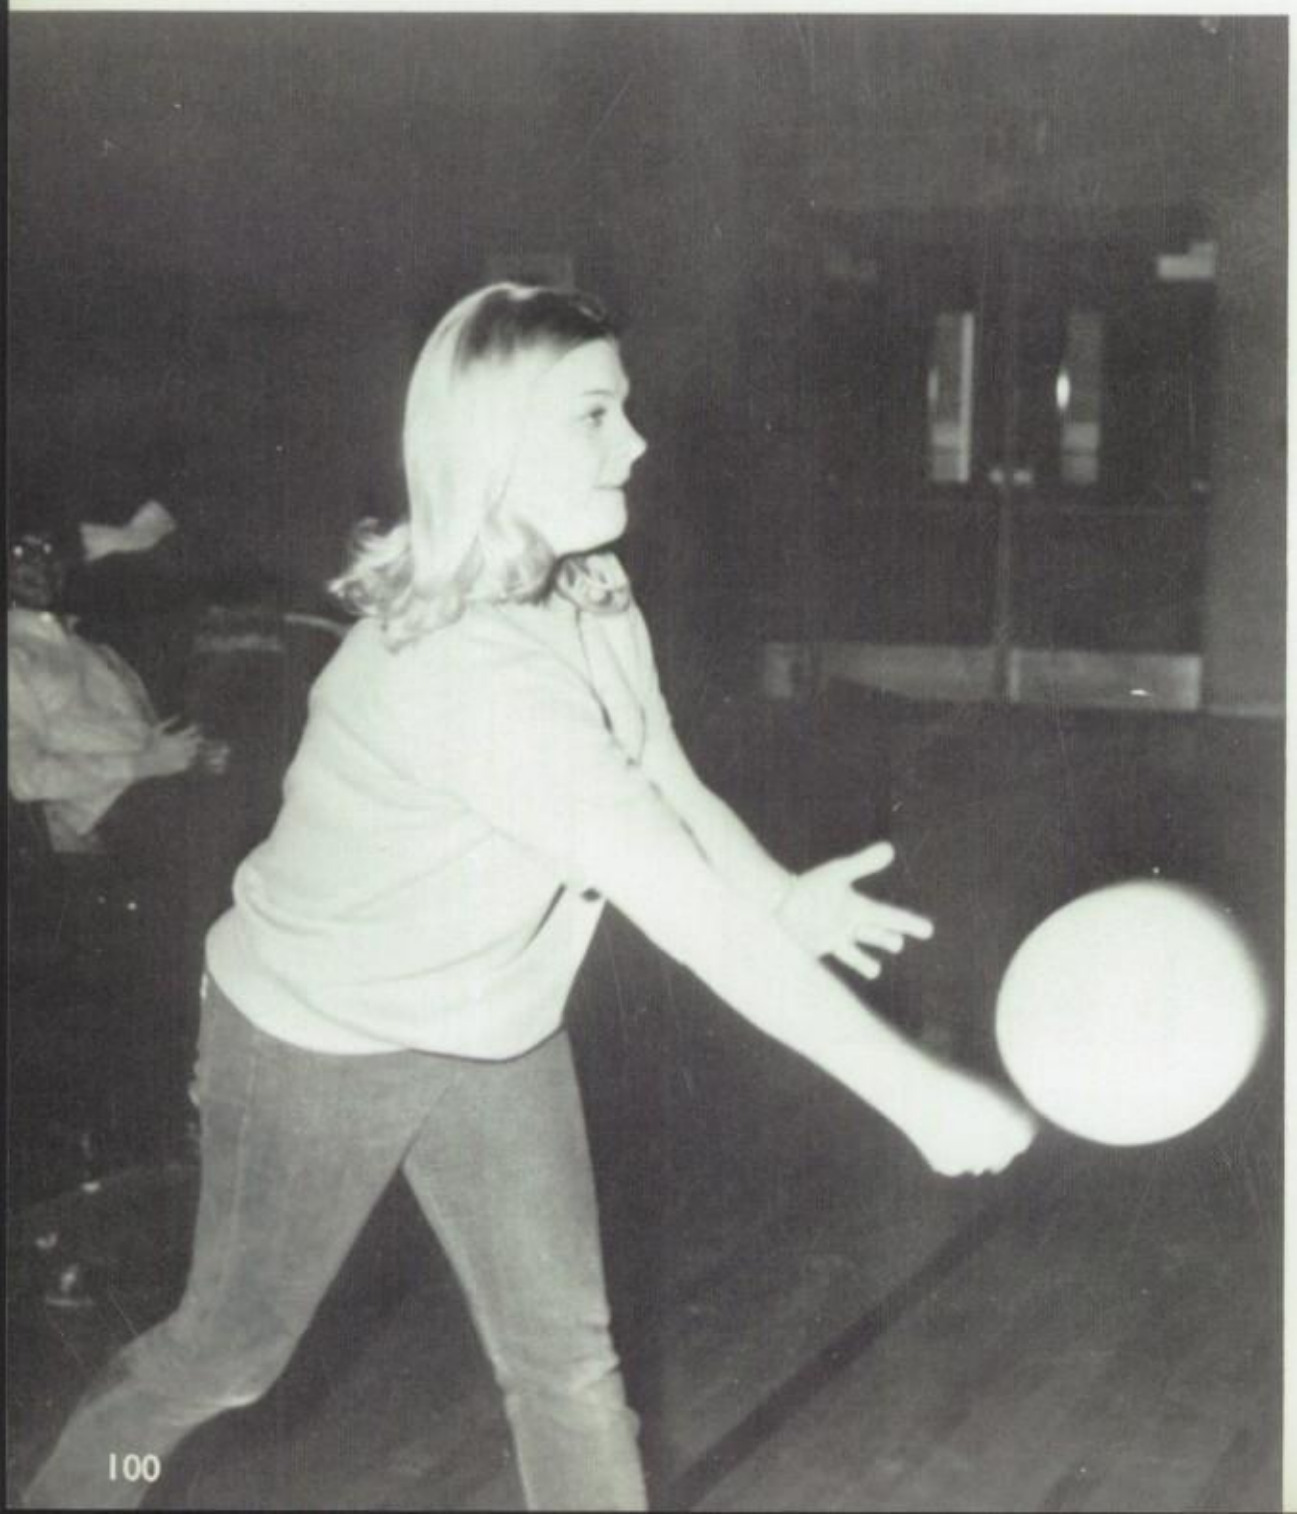
Ann Huelsmann serves the volleyball for the deciding point.



Tradition was broken this year as the members of the Girl's Athletic Association packed their suitcases for a weekend trip to Cobblestone instead of their annual trip to Black River. The new location offered a variety of new entertainment as well as old pranks. The trampoline was not the only thing that kept the girls hopping.

It was reported that frogs mysteriously found their way into certain beds. In spite of late delivery, candy sales still provided the main source of income which made this exciting trip possible.

The annual trip was merely the climax of an activity-filled year. Earlier, the GAA spent many delightful hours participating in a variety of events. Softball began the season with a hit. Bowling, basketball, and hiking were soon added to the line-up of activities.

Turning their attentions to the construction of the Homecoming float, the girls decided on a creative "Mug the Knights" for their theme.

Trampoline was a welcome addition to the recreational equipment.

Ernst, S. Pacatte, M. Rosenthal, P. Stahlschmidt, D. Henkhaus, J. Spengel, L. Holcmann.

Formal initiation officially welcomed new members as part of the team when together they faithfully recited the GAA pledge. The mothers did not miss any of the excitement as they attended the formal initiation as well as the Mother-Daughter Play Night.

As the year drifted by, the girls collected memories to be treasured for the rest of their lives. The lively year of 1969 will never be forgotten.

...in Tough Competition

A grade school student appears especially interested in the geese at the FFA barnyard.

What do livestock, parliamentary procedure, and surveying have in common? They are all part of FFA! HHS club members competed with other FFA chapters in these and many more divisions. The hardworking club stepped into some tough individual and team competition and came home with awards and prizes. Among the more envied individual prizes, Ken Reding won the District Foundation Award in ornamental horticulture and Gary Hosto, in a state contest, placed second in dairy judging. This year Bob Schnieder will be a recipient of the State Farmer Degree which is given to only two per-cent of the states' 16,000 FFA members.

The annual FFA trip took the boys to Bloomington to visit the Feed Company Research Farm and the Illinois Agricultural Association Building. The club, however, was also active at home. Early in the year they combined efforts with the FHA to produce a first prize homecoming float. Then came February and the FFA barnyard transformed the agriculture department into a miniature fairgrounds. The Parent-Son Banquet concluded an active year appropriately with a scrumptious meal.

Ind. Ed. Visits Local Industry

Fulfilling one of its purposes, to create deeper interest in industry, the Industrial Education Club tourned Basler Electric and Owens Illinois Glass. The HHS club also practiced its skills by competing with other clubs. In competition held at Western Illinois University, Gary Henschen received a superior rating and James Kerin an honorable mention in the drafting division.

Ind. Ed. has its light sides too. One need not be a member to enjoy the club's intramural basketball or dance at an Ind. Ed. sponsored sock hop. Rounding off an active year, sponsor and members relaxed with a well deserved trip to a Cardinal baseball game.

Ind. Ed. members, touring Basler Electric, make use of the saying, "The whole world is my classroom."

Pam Bellm enjoys teaching her grade school class new words.

The Future Teachers of America sold Bulldog stationery to earn money to visit the campus of the University of Illinois. Again this year the club had many students participating in their cadet teaching program. This program enables the students to try their hand at teaching and supervising a class.

Pep Club Boosts School Spirit

Pep Club members put in another exciting year of boosting school spirit by selling pins, sponsoring buses to the football and basketball games, attaching witty sayings to the Pep Club bulletin board, and performing skits for pep rallies.

Through their efforts and enthusiasm, club members kept school spirit high throughout a losing season.

Janice Wall and Candy Perschbacher support the Bulldogs by decorating the Pep Club bulletin board.

Spirit abounded in the halls of HHS this year with the tremendous backing of our cheerleaders with their victory signs.

The J.V. Cheerleaders and mascot take a trip down the sliding board.

Happiness is the glowing spirit of Highland High's cheerleaders. These symbols of spirit led the crowds of anxious spectators well on the fields, in the gym, and in the halls of HHS. After many hours of summer, and after school practices, they acquired many new talents in their formations. Generating enthusiasm, our cheerleaders led our Bulldogs through the trying year.

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders: Jené Werner, Chrystal Zobrist, Janet Zobrist, Connie Louer, and Kathy Merkle.

Up Up With H.H.S.

Although the halls are empty, memories of learning, competing,
involvement and development linger in the minds of HHS participants.
The year is past and gone
but never to be forgotten.

For HHS
Is People.

Up Up With Advertising

Our Appreciation

To members of the business community who have generously purchased advertising in our 1969 yearbook. We hope that the readers of this book will support those who have made it possible.

To Rembrandt Studios for their cooperation in providing pictures for your yearbook.

To Up with People, Incorporated,
P.O. Box 100, Los Angeles, California, for their permission to use the words to the song "Up, Up with People."
